If I were the Headteacher

I bring my heavy school bag to school every day.   But it is really too heavy for me, so my father helps me carry it to school.   If I were the headteacher, I would like to use electronic books (E-books) instead of conventional printed books.   An E-book can replace many printed books.

My school bag would be lighter.   I could carry it by myself and would not need to seek help from my father.   Furthermore, E-books are not made of paper.   As a result, more trees can be conserved.
